Dear Parents,

What wonderful sunshine and warmth last week - it certainly was most welcome. I hope that you managed to enjoy the opportunity to spend some time outside and tried some of the Easter activities that were in the newsletter last week. If you took pictures of these, please send them to adminoffice@knightsenham-jun.hants.sch.uk and we will share them on the school website. I'm sure there are some great Easter bakes out there waiting to be celebrated! If you didn't keep the links, all our previous newsletters are on the school website.

I know that many families have been using technology to stay in touch with each other during these different times. You may want to organise a virtual catch up for your children and some of their friends. Lots of different games work well online – you could try playing Pictionary, Scrabble, Monopoly, take it in turns to write and host your own quiz or even organise your own book club to review a book that you have read. Check out the children's pages for an exciting new reading challenge for you to try at home this week!

There continues to be much talk in the news of when schools might be able to safely reopen. We all look forward to this and in the meantime, stay safe and stay at home!

Mr Britt's Reading Challenge

Your challenge is to find the most creative, unusual and interesting place to be photographed reading in your home or garden.

Think about places where you might not normally read a book. Make props, dress as one of the characters or get the whole family involved and recreate a scene from one of your favourite stories.

Send your images to adminoffice@knightsenham-jun.hants.sch.uk and we will share them on the website. You might even spot some familiar adults joining in too!

Thank you for the photographs that have been sent in showing what you are getting up to at home. It is a great way to keep in touch. Check out the website.
